

2021 Christmas greetings from recent RHS Captains

We have kept in touch with recent School Captains, and we thought it would be appropriate to ask them how they are progressing. Megan Aitken, Lucy Krauth and Cameron Thores were Captains in 2018, 2019 and 2020 respectively.

Megan Aitken 2018

I'm in third year at Edinburgh University, studying Medicine. I am currently in my Intercalation year studying Primary Care which has allowed me to gain some clinical experience. It has been tough being a Medical student during COVID as clinical exposure with patients has been limited to keep them protected. The Medical School has tried to compensate for this by adding in additional clinical skills weeks into later years. I am still managing to keep up hobbies and societies including my role as President of the Medical Ethics Society. I am still continuing with my running in my free time as a form of relaxation from my studies. I hope that all of the RHS community has a wonderful and safe Christmas. I look forward to reuniting with everyone very soon.

Lucy Krauth 2019

Hi everyone! I'm Lucy and I'm currently in 2nd year at Glasgow University studying psychology and French. This year has been very different to my first year where everything was online and there was no socialising! Having said that, I met some great people in my flat so it wasn't all bad! It's been great to have my first in-person classes this year to meet new people and sports are back on as well. I play netball so it's fab being able to get back into that again. I missed it a lot during lockdown! We've had some friendly matches this semester- one against another Glasgow Uni, Strathclyde, and I've met a lot of new people through netball too. I hope everyone's doing well and wish the RHS community all the best for Christmas and the New Year.

2020*

I've just finished my first semester at the University of Exeter where I'm studying Economics and Finance. Thankfully due to circumstances in the south west I've been able to have a relatively normal first few months of university. Teaching has been in person; I've been able to get a bit of socialising and I have also had opportunity to carry on playing rugby and athletics. I'm now happy to be back in Edinburgh for the holidays and I would like to wish all members of the Royal High Club a merry Christmas and a happy new year!
